

DAUGHERTY INJUNCTION CASE NEARS THE END

DEFENSE CLOSED ITS CASE SHORTLY AFTER NOON ON WEDNESDAY

Railroad Executives Were Charged With Complicity in Their Dealings With Shopmen by Warren S. Stone, President of Locomotive Engineers

Stone Declared While Openly the Railroads Favored the Open Shop, Secretly They Were Working for Closed Shops; Cites Union Pacific

By United Press

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The defense closed its case in the Daugherty injunction suit shortly after noon today.

Arguments will be opened by Blackburn Esterlin, attorney for the government, shortly after the noon recess.

Railroad executives were charged with complicity in their dealings with shopmen by Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in an affidavit read at the hearing today.

Stone declared while openly the railroads favored the open shop, secretly they were working for the closed shop.

The Union Pacific employees association, which is one of the roads developing a union from the strike, was cited as an instance of the closed shops.

The affidavit declared that if a man resigned from the Union Pacific he was automatically dropped from the organization, and that dues were deducted from the payroll.

Strike of Freight Handlers

St. Paul, Sept. 20.—The strike of freight handlers on all Lake Erie ports virtually halted coal shipments to Minnesota and the northwest today.

C. P. White, federal fuel distributor received the news of the strike in a telegram this morning. He pointed out it would cause serious delay in sending the state fuel supply unless speedy settlement is made.

The threatened strike of seamen on the Great Lakes scheduled for October 1, if carried out, will practically tie up all shipments to the west White stated. Additional cars of coal, loaded before the strike went into effect, were reported enroute to Duluth docks today.

White reported that there were no cargoes being unloaded today.

THREATS OF SEAMEN'S STRIKE HELD DAMPER ON COAL OUTLOOK

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—While coal now is coming in large quantities from Lake Erie ports to Lake Superior ports, threats of a seamen's strike to be made effective in 10 days tend to militate against optimism over the situation. C. P. White, federal fuel administrator for the northwest, said. Three thousand tons of bituminous coal now are en route to Duluth and Superior ports on 39 boats, according to records at Mr. White's office. A strike of union sailors would paralyze coal shipments and curtail state revenue from shipments of ore upon which a royalty is paid, Ray P. Chase, state auditor, said.

RATES ON POTATOES MAY NOT BE REDUCED

St. Paul, Sept. 20.—Railroads operating in Minnesota are not willing to reduce rates on potatoes at the present time.

This was brought out at conferences held yesterday at the capitol at which O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner presided.

The reduction period was to expire October 1. He explained that shippers have now asked a continuance of the reduced rates from the western territory and that if this were granted he wanted Minnesota shippers to have the same benefit.

Traffic officials pointed out emergency rates granted western growers would expire within a few days, and it would be useless to reduce the rates now.

They admitted, however, that if the Interstate Commerce Commission allowed continuance of reduced rates after October 1, they might give favorable consideration to similar reduction for the potato shippers in Minnesota.

ROOF OF OLD ROOT CELLAR NEAR THEIR HOME GIVES AWAY WITHOUT WARNING

MOTHER 15 MINUTES LATER FINDS FOOT OF ONE PROTRUDING FROM SLIDE

(By United Press.)
Richland Center, Wis., Sept. 20.—Buried alive under three tons of earth and rock when the roof of an old root cellar near their home gave away without warning, Lucille, Margorie and Clara Beatty, little daughters of Arthur Beatty, were suffocated to death.

The little girls, aged eight, six and four years respectively, had been playing about the home, but went out of doors while their mother put the youngest child to sleep.

Fifteen minutes later mother went out to call the children. She noticed the fall of earth at the old root cellar, and protruding from it, was a little foot. Neighbors were summoned, but the children were dead when found.

The scene of the tragedy was an excavation made many years ago in the side of a bluff and formed a sort of cave which had been a favorite place for a play ground of the children. It had been intended for use as a root cellar, but had lain idle for several years.

HORMEL COMPANY PAYS 40 PER CENT OF DEBT

Austin, Sept. 20.—While the large defalcation of its former controller, "Cy" Thomson, will probably prevent payment of a dividend late this year by the George A. Hormel Packing company, as it did last year, the concern recently has sent out checks in payment of 25 per cent of the amount held in claims against the company by banks. Last year the company made a 15 per cent payment on these claims.

When Thomson's theft was discovered, various banks throughout the country held the company's paper to the amount of $1,125,000. At the meeting of representatives of the banks following the making public of the defalcation, it was decided to give the Hormel company three years in which to meet its obligations.

Mr. Hormel said he hoped to pay up in two years, and in the last 13 months the company has paid 40 per cent of the amount owing.

CLASH BETWEEN TURKS AND BRITISH MAY BE AVOIDED; CONFERENCE IS ON

(By United Press.)

A ray of hope that a clash between the Turks and the British may be avoided was shown from Paris today where a preliminary peace conference got under way, headed by representatives of Britain, France, Italy and Jugoslavia.

Premier Poincare, who has the confidence of Mustapha Kemal, asked the British to forego military moves in the Near East until a conference could be held with the Turkish leader.

Britain went forward with plans for military and naval concentration in the Dardanelles and Greece started to reorganize her routed army. Greeks began fleeing from Constantinople as the Kemalists were reported within 50 miles of the city.

In London, representatives of 6,000,000 workers gathered to demand that the government avoid a clash with the Turks.

Preliminary Hearing of Conference On

Paris, Sept. 20.—A preliminary hearing of the conference opened here today.

Representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy and Jugoslavia met to prevent, if possible, the threatened clash between British troops and Turkish soldiers under Mustapha Kemal in Asia Minor.

France, represented by Premier Poincare, acted as intermediary and attempted to induce Lord Curzon, British foreign minister, to hold in obedience all action against the Kemalists pending the attempt to establish a permanent peace.

As the conference got under way, word was received that Kemal had moved his headquarters to the vicinity of Ismid in Asiatic Turkey, which is 50 miles south of Constantinople, and close to the neutral zone of the straits of the Dardanelles.

At Chanak Turkish cavalry men and the British Tommies faced each other. It was authoritatively indicated that Premier Poincare presented to Lord Curzon a note from Kemal that he will not attempt to move against the neutral zone at present.

Reorganizing Routed Greeks

London, Sept. 20.—Reorganization of the routed Greek army, mobilizing the class of 1923 was reported today in a Central News agency dispatch from Athens.

Command of the army will be vested in General Polymanakos, commander-in-chief of Thrace.

Turks' Proclamation

Washington, Sept. 20.—The Turks have issued a formal proclamation that "all men in the Smyrna region between the ages of 18 and 45 will be held prisoners of war," the state department was advised by Admiral Mark Bristol today.

Kemal Success Stirs Wahibi Tribes

London, Sept. 20.—Stirred by the military success of Mustapha Kemal in Asia, the Wahibi tribes have revolted and are threatening the coast towns along the border of Egypt, by word received in an Exchange telegram today.

Artillery is held in readiness to quell the disorder, it was reported.

Claim Britain Has Won the War

On the basis of present information, Great Britain has won the war against the Turkish nationalists without firing a shot.

Mustapha Kemal has been awed by the quick action of the British, and is afraid to attack. The Turkish nationalists are contending themselves with minor hostilities, demanding the British troops return home and surrender Constantinople and Thrace.

Mustapha Kemal showed discretion in waiting for a split in the allied nations but even this will not help him now. All France's influence with Mustapha Kemal is undoubtedly being used for peace.

On account of the fear of the British victory over the Turks, Great Britain now dominates the political side of the situation.

France cannot afford to fight with the Turks against Great Britain, and cannot afford to see Britain defeat the Turks in a war calling for compensation. Mustapha Kemal, therefore, is himself isolated, and the first victory has gone to Great Britain.

Shopmen's Side of Controversy As Given by Publicity Committee

STRIKE BULLETIN

Mr. Daugherty denounces the unions for claiming "the right to dictate to the government," but he claims that right for himself. He arrogates to himself the legislative power of Congress and creates a situation in which he and one other person—a Federal Judge—presume to do what Congress definitely declined to do.

Nothing that the strike-leaders ever attempted in the way of usurpation equals the achievement of the Attorney General himself. Nor could all the labor unions combined do so much to bring the authority of the government into contempt as Mr. Daugherty has managed to do by a single fat-witted achievement. He has given substance to every radical claim no matter how extreme.

If court proceedings are to be the last word in this industrial dispute, it is a public misfortune that the process cannot be carried far enough to bring about the appointment of a responsible guardian for Mr. Harding's Attorney General.

(New York Globe, Sept. 2, 1922)
Daugherty's Big Stick

There is no harmony between Mr. Daugherty's utterances in the Chicago courtroom yesterday and the President's last message to congress.

Yesterday Mr. Daugherty said: "I will use the power of the government to prevent the labor unions from destroying the open shop."

In his message to congress on August 18, Mr. Harding said: "In the week of patient conference and attempts at settlement I have come to appraise another element in the engrossing industrial dispute of which it is only fair to take cognizance. It is in some degree responsible for the strikes and has hindered attempts at adjustment. I refer to the warfare on the unions of labor. The government has no sympathy or approval for this element of discord in the ranks of industry."

There is divergence enough in these two statements. President Harding however referred in his message to another fact which apparently has escaped the attention of the attorney general when he pointed out that "the law creating the labor board . . . cannot halt a strike, and manifestly congress deliberately omitted the enactment of compulsory arbitration." Yet, in the face of that reality of the President's recent message to congress Mr. Daugherty said yesterday: "Representing the American people in this proceeding I demand that the operation of the railroads shall not be interrupted in the service the government requires them to perform."

What congress, the representative legislative body, refused to enact, Mr. Daugherty demands. In that fact lies the arrogance and futility of his action. In the Esch-Cummins law congress provided for a system of industrial justice. A studied effort was made to render strikes infrequent, but after long and serious debate congress refused to make them unlawful. The issue divided the House and the Senate before a decision was rendered. Finally the will of the nation was registered as clearly as is possible through the American congress. Under the Transportation act the railroad unions have the unchallenged right to strike.

(New York World, Sept. 2, 1922)

Daugherty's Injunctions

Assuming that the railroad strike can be broken by writs of injunction, President Harding and his Attorney General are exactly two months late. What was done yesterday might, with considerable show of justification, have been done on July 1 when the shopmen struck by way of protest against the decision of the Railroad Labor Board reducing their wages.

Mr. Harding made no effort to uphold the Labor Board at that time. Having allowed various railroads to flout it, he apparently thought the balance could be comfortably restored by permitting the unions to flout it.

Since that time Mr. Harding has made practically all the blunders that could have been made in dealing with a serious industrial situation. He has never failed to meddle whenever it was possible by meddling to make a bad matter worse. He has never missed an opportunity to do the wrong thing. Now he has permitted the Attorney General to rush into court with a petition for an injunction which is so sweeping that it will arouse the bitter resentment of organized labor in every part of the country.

The President has been smarting under the criticism directed against him from all sides for his weak and vacillating policy during the strike. Something had to be done for political effect, so after the strike is two months old and conditions are steadily improving, the Attorney General is sent into court to paint up the Harding lath in an endeavor to make it look like iron.

It is too bad that this editor doesn't know a little more about railroading. Those who want to know exactly how 'conditions are steadily improving' should consult other pages of this Bulletin.

DECISION OF OHIO SUPREME COURT IS STIRRING UP NATION

DECIDES PEOPLE HAVE RIGHT TO VOTE ON SUCH AN AMENDMENT

TO OHIO STATE CONSTITUTION AT THE NOVEMBER ELECTION

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 20.—Decision of the Ohio supreme court that the people of that state have a right to vote on a beer and wine amendment to their state constitution in November has given new impetus for a similar referendum in a number of other states. At least four states will vote in November on the same question that precipitates a new legal battle over prohibition for the United States supreme court to settle.

The issue now raised is, can a state through amendment to its constitution nullify or evade a provision of the federal constitution?

Massachusetts, Illinois, California and Texas are considering starting referendums this fall on beer and wine.

In Indiana and Michigan efforts will be started this week by G. P. Hinckley of the association against the prohibition amendment to organize a referendum vote.

Ship Subsidy, Rail Legislation and Appropriations

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 20.—Congress will very likely be called back in session by President Harding in November to care for the ship subsidy legislation, contemplated railroad legislation, and appropriation measures.

This announcement was made by Republican Leader Mondell, Senator Lodge and Speaker Gillett following a conference with President Harding at the White House today.

A final decision in the matter will be reached late today at a conference of the house and senate leaders, it was said.

HOUSE TODAY TAKES UP PRESIDENT'S VETO OF THE SOLDIER BONUS BILL

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 20.—The house today took up President Harding's veto of the soldier bonus bill. Before night leaders expected to get a vote overriding the veto.

The house proceeding was a mere formality, as it was a foregone conclusion that more than half the necessary two-thirds would vote to make the bonus a law in spite of Mr. Harding's emphatic objections to it.

Interest in the bonus fight centered in the senate where both sides today claimed the vote. The senate probably will take action tomorrow.

The president's vigorous message, delivered late yesterday to the house, was counted on by anti-bonus men to give some seagators who have already voted for the bonus an alibi for changing their positions now.

The clear picture Mr. Harding painted of the financial disaster that the bonus would bring about if insisted upon at this time, was expected to be used by a number of the senators in explaining to their constituents why they changed.

House Passes Bill Over Veto

Washington, Sept. 20.—The house passed the bonus bill again today over the veto of President Harding.

The vote on overriding the veto was overwhelming—258 voting to override, and only 54 voting to sustain the President.

The bill now goes to the senate, which it is expected, will dispose of it by tomorrow.

The house overrode the President's veto in just the time it took to call the roll.

The vote was taken without a minutes debate. Republican Leader Mondell insisted that the bonus had been so thoroughly debated by the house previously to make further consideration unnecessary.

When the democratic leader, Garrett, suggested an hour or so of debate, there came a general chorus of "No, let's vote now" from all republicans. Mondell then moved to have the vote taken at once.

FIRST PROTECTIVE LAW IN NEARLY 10 YEARS NEAR PASSAGE

MEASURE NOW GOES TO PRESIDENT HARDING FOR HIS SIGNATURE

BECOMES EFFECTIVE THE DAY AFTER HE SIGNS—RATE ABOUT 1909

Washington, Sept. 20.—Final legislative action on the tariff of 1922 was taken yesterday with the adoption of a conference report by the senate. The measure now goes to President Harding and will become effective the day after he signs it. Under the law, he has 10 days in which to attach his signature. Treasury experts estimate the new act will yield about $400,000,000 a year in revenue.

Rate About 1909

Joseph S. McCoy, actuary of the treasury, figures that in actual operation the effective equivalent ad valorem will average slightly below those in the famous Payne-Aldrich act. The average of the rates, as written, however, is declared to be slightly above the average of those in the 1909 act.

In making their estimates, the experts say they have calculated that some of the new duties, particularly those relating to cutlery, will be inoperative, because they are so high as to be practically prohibitive, while others, including most of those in the agricultural schedule, will be inoperative because of an absence of imports of the commodities they cover.

Some Highest Ever

Rates in some of the schedules are declared to be the highest in the history of American tariffs while those in other schedules are estimated to be lower than in any other protective act.

In the highest class are placed sugar, raw wool, silk, laces and embroideries, cutlery, agricultural products and provisions and dyes, synthetic chemicals, medicinals and other products of coal tar.

The flax, hemp and jute schedule is estimated at only slightly more than that of the existing Democratic law. This bill marks a distinct departure in American tariff making, in that the President is given broad authority over taxes at the customs houses. Upon investigation, he may increase or decrease any rate in the bill by 50 per cent should that be necessary.

American Basis

In addition, the executive may declare American valuation as the basis of assessing ad valorem duties. In the event that such a basis were used, the duties could not be increased, but the experts estimate that the actual change from the foreign valuation to the American valuation would bring about an average increase of 100 per cent in the rates. After declaring such valuation the President could, however, reduce any duty by 50 per cent.

The tariff commission is authorized to assist the President in carrying out these so-called flexible tariff provisions, and would make exhaustive investigations and hold hearings.

How They Voted

The senate vote on the tariff was 43 to 28 and came exactly one year eight months and 13 days after work was started on which will be the first Republican protective tariff law in nearly 10 years.

Five Republicans voted against the conference report and two democrats supported it. Three republicans, Cameron, Cummins and Lenroot, who voted for the bill as amended in the senate, opposed it in the form it came from the conference.

The roll call includes: For adoption, republicans—Kellogg and Nelson, Minnesota; McCumber, North Dakota; Norbeck and Sterling, South Dakota.

Against adoption—Republicans: La Follette and Lenroot, Wisconsin.

Hearst Seems Short On Democratic Delegates

(By United Press.)

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 20.—William Randolph Hearst will have very few delegates when the democratic convention meets September 27 to nominate a candidate for governor, according to early returns from yesterday's primaries.

With a few exceptions regular organization candidates were winners in practically all the districts. Prohibition played an important part in the congressional nominations, and early today the wets appeared to have scored most of the victories, by a ratio of probably three to one.

KIPLING OVERRATED, SAYS BRITISH EDITOR

New York, Sept. 20.—Rudyard Kipling is overrated in the United States, said J. J. O'Neill, director of the Manchester Guardian, at Hotel Belmont. In expressing astonishment at the prominence American and Canadian newspapers have been giving comment on Claire Sheridan's recent report of a Kipling interview in which he made various anti-American statements. "It is all out of proportion," O'Neill said. "Kipling stands for nothing in the England of today and, if he had not written the 'Recessional,' he would have been forgotten long ago."

Washington, Sept. 20.—Congress will very likely be called back in session by President Harding in November to care for the ship subsidy legislation, contemplated railroad legislation, and appropriation measures.

This announcement was made by Republican Leader Mondell, Senator Lodge and Speaker Gillett following a conference with President Harding at the White House today.

A final decision in the matter will be reached late today at a conference of the house and senate leaders, it was said.

HOUSE TODAY TAKES UP PRESIDENT'S VETO OF THE SOLDIER BONUS BILL

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 20.—The house today took up President Harding's veto of the soldier bonus bill. Before night leaders expected to get a vote overriding the veto.

The house proceeding was a mere formality, as it was a foregone conclusion that more than half the necessary two-thirds would vote to make the bonus a law in spite of Mr. Harding's emphatic objections to it.

Interest in the bonus fight centered in the senate where both sides today claimed the vote. The senate probably will take action tomorrow.

The president's vigorous message, delivered late yesterday to the house, was counted on by anti-bonus men to give some senators who have already voted for the bonus an alibi for changing their positions now.

The clear picture Mr. Harding painted of the financial disaster that the bonus would bring about if insisted upon at this time, was expected to be used by a number of the senators in explaining to their constituents why they changed.

House Passes Bill Over Veto
Washington, Sept. 20.—The house passed the bonus bill again today over the veto of President Harding.

The vote on overriding the veto was overwhelming—258 voting to override, and only 54 voting to sustain the President.

The bill now goes to the senate, which it is expected, will dispose of it by tomorrow.

The house overrode the President's veto in just the time it took to call the roll.

The vote was taken without a minutes debate. Republican Leader Mondell insisted that the bonus had been so thoroughly debated by the house previously to make further consideration unnecessary.

When the democratic leader, Garrett, suggested an hour or so of debate, there came a general chorus of "No, let's vote now" from all republicans. Mondell then moved to have the vote taken at once.

FIRST PROTECTIVE LAW IN NEARLY 10 YEARS NEAR PASSAGE

MEASURE NOW GOES TO PRESIDENT HARDING FOR HIS SIGNATURE

BECOMES EFFECTIVE THE DAY AFTER HE SIGNS—RATE ABOUT 1909

Washington, Sept. 20.—Final legislative action on the tariff of 1922 was taken yesterday with the adoption of a conference report by the senate. The measure now goes to President Harding and will become effective the day after he signs it. Under the law, he has 10 days in which to attach his signature. Treasury experts estimate the new act will yield about $400,000,000 a year in revenue.

Rate About 1909
Joseph S. McCoy, actuary of the treasury, figures that in actual operation the effective equivalent ad valorem will average slightly below those in the famous Payne-Aldrich act. The average of the rates, as written, however, is declared to be slightly above the average of those in the 1909 act.

In making their estimates, the experts say they have calculated that some of the new duties, particularly those relating to cutlery, will be inoperative, because they are so high as to be practically prohibitive, while others, including most of those in the agricultural schedule, will be inoperative because of an absence of imports of the commodities they cover.

Some Highest Ever
Rates in some of the schedules are declared to be the highest in the history of American tariffs while those in other schedules are estimated to be lower than in any other protective act.

In the highest class are placed sugar, raw wool, silk, laces and embroideries, cutlery, agricultural products and provisions and dyes, synthetic chemicals, medicinals and other products of coal tar.

The flax, hemp and jute schedule is estimated at only slightly more than that of the existing Democratic law. This bill marks a distinct departure in American tariff making, in that the President is given broad authority over taxes at the customs houses. Upon investigation, he may increase or decrease any rate in the bill by 50 per cent should that be necessary.

American Basis
In addition, the executive may declare American valuation as the basis of assessing ad valorem duties. In the event that such a basis were used, the duties could not be increased, but the experts estimate that the actual change from the foreign valuation to the American valuation would bring about an average increase of 100 per cent in the rates. After declaring such valuation the President could, however, reduce any duty by 50 per cent.

The tariff commission is authorized to assist the President in carrying out these so-called flexible tariff provisions, and would make exhaustive investigations and hold hearings.

How They Voted
The senate vote on the tariff was 43 to 28 and came exactly one year eight months and 13 days after work was started on which will be the first Republican protective tariff law in nearly 10 years.

Five Republicans voted against the conference report and two democrats supported it. Three republicans, Cameron, Cummins and Lenroot, who voted for the bill as amended in the senate, opposed it in the form it came from the conference.

The roll call includes: For adoption, republicans—Kelllogg and Nelson, Minnesota; McCumber, North Dakota; Norbeck and Sterling, South Dakota.

Against adoption—Republicans: La Follette and Lenroot, Wisconsin.

Hearst Seems Short On Democratic Delegates

(By United Press.)

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 20.—William Randolph Hearst will have very few delegates when the democratic convention meets September 27 to nominate a candidate for governor, according to early returns from yesterday's primaries.

With a few exceptions regular organization candidates were winners in practically all the districts. Prohibition played an important part in the congressional nominations, and early today the wets appeared to have scored most of the victories, by a ratio of probably three to one.

KIPLING OVERRATED, SAYS BRITISH EDITOR

New York, Sept. 20.—Rudyard Kipling is overrated in the United States, said J. J. O'Neill, director of the Manchester Guardian, at Hotel Belmont, in expressing astonishment at the prominence American and Canadian newspapers have been giving comment on Claire Sheridan's recent report of a Kipling interview in which he made various anti-American statements. "It is all out of proportion," O'Neill said. "Kipling stands for nothing in the England of today and, if he had not written the 'Recessional,' he would have been forgotten long ago."

WORLD BASEBALL CLASSIC TO OPEN IN N. Y. OCT. 4

ARRANGEMENTS FOR "OPENER" MADE ON THEORY GIANTS WILL COP FLAG

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The 1922 world series baseball championship will open Oct. 4 in New York City, it was decided at a meeting of National and American league representatives here.

TWENTY YEARS AGO BARNEY OLDFIELD WON FIRST RACE

RECORD OF FIVE MILES IN 5:26
PALES IN FACE OF SPEED OF
107.7 MILES AN HOUR

On September 21 there will be celebrated among automobile fans everywhere, and among many an auto row, the twentieth anniversary of the first automobile race meet ever held. This was at Grosse Point, Mich., and the affair marked an epoch in the automobile industry as well as registering the natal day of all speedway classics.

Two men, today outstanding figures in motordom, figured in the winning of this auspicious event. The winning car was owned and had been built, by Henry Ford. Its driver was Barney Oldfield.

BARNEY OLDFIELD
Events, Where he Officiates
as Pacemaker

With the nearness of the coming anniversary, motor fans will be interested to learn something of the eventful life history of Barney Oldfield, the wonder racer, pacer, tire maker and recognized expert in the automobile field, for, although he has been five years in retirement as a racer, he is still a prominent man in automobile racing today, not at the wheel, but as pacemaker.

Barney Born in Ohio

Born on a farm near Wauseon, O., in 1878, young Oldfield got the dust of the race track upon his shoes early in his teens. As water boy for a railroad gang, and later as an elevator boy, he saved $65 from his slender earnings and bought a bicycle. Entering the Ohio State Championship at Canton, he showed his genius for speed, even at this early date, by winning two medals and a gold watch. A year later he was acknowledged bicycle race champion of Ohio and his services soon were in great demand as a cycle salesman.

An event that perhaps had far-reaching effect on the automotive industry as it is today is seen in Barney Oldfield's connection shortly after 1902, with Henry Ford, then an obscure engineer, but fast bringing to completion, if not perfection, the car destined to be the forerunner of his present vast enterprise.

This first car, named by Mr. Ford the "999", Barney undertook to pilot in the face of entries from all parts of the country, most of them much more powerful, in appearance at least than the little "999". It is history now that Barney won, and from that day, until his retirement from actual racing 16 years later, this wonder speedster's career was a consistent record of great and astonishing success on the track.

What Mr. Ford Says

In connection with Mr. Oldfield's first association with Henry Ford, the latter has this to say, in the course of his autobiography appearing in McClure's:

"I did not want the responsibility of racing the '999', neither did Cooper (Mr. Ford's partner). Cooper said he knew a man who lived on speed—nothing could go too fast for him. He wired to Salt Lake City and on came a professional bicycle rider named Barney Oldfield. He said he would try anything.

"Said Oldfield just before the race at Grosse Point: 'Well, this chariot may kill me, but they will say afterwards that I was going like h— when

When Roebling Built Brooklyn Bridge He Provided for Overcrowding

New York Skyline Seen From Brooklyn Bridge—(In Oval)—
John A. Roebling.

ONE of the periodic cries that the Brooklyn Bridge is not safe because of the terrific overcrowding of trains and motor vehicles having recently been stilled by the statements of engineers who know the facts, the whole picturesque romance of the building of the bridge has been again recalled. When Col. Washington A. Roebling, who wove the great wire cables over plans made by his father, John A. Roebling, announced the other day that the bridge was good for many years to come, he spoke from a knowledge of long forgotten facts. He knew when he built it that it would be subject to overstrain in the future. And when he built into that first great bridge, which ushered in the Age of Steel Wire and preceded his wire cables for the Williamsburgh and Manhattan bridges over the East River, a factor of safety far in excess of what timid imaginations could picture, he built for centuries, not decades.

The cables are made of 19 strands, each strand containing 278 wires, continuous like yarn in a skein nearly 200 miles long. The wires are not twisted, but laid parallel and continuous and then bound together. And the oblique storm braces that radiate like a web from the top of the towers on each side to 400 feet of the bridge floor beneath are calculated to bear the whole weight of the bridge for that distance if necessary. They are small, but the same engineers that made possible these great modern suspension bridges manufactured them and set them in place.

It took from 1870 to 1883 to build the Brooklyn Bridge, so it is now forty-nine years old. Since the days when it was started the Roebling plant from its initial shops at Trenton, N. J., has spread to Roebling, 10 miles farther down the Delaware.

Col. Roebling still directs the work of his company. Part of its war service consisted of the 80,000,000 feet of Roebling wire cable, now reposing on the floor of the North Sea, which was once a part of the mine barrage. The Adriatic Barrage, which was ready for laying when the war ended, took over 12,000,000 feet more.

she took me over the bank. And he did go like h—. He was about half a mile ahead of the nearest man at the end of the race!"

Incidentally, it is of interest to note that the "world's record" of five miles in 5:26, made by the Ford "999" in that granddaddy of all races at Grosse Point in 1902, pales into significance when Jimmy Murphy's marvelous feat of 94.48 miles per hour at the 1922 500-mile Indianapolis classic is considered, or that of Joe Thomas' extraordinary feat of 107.7 miles per hour in the 150-mile event at San Francisco in June.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN

September 15 to 22

Clean up the garden, remove and burn all weeds and trash. They are splendid harbors for insects over winter.

Celery banked with earth late in the fall seems more palatable than where boards are used. Do not bank when foliage is at all moist, as this will aid decay.

Branches of the Wahoo or Burning Bush make excellent bouquets for the table.

See that the grass is pulled away from the base of small trees. Better put wire protectors about them so mice or rabbits cannot injure them during the winter.

Save seeds, fruits and ornamentals. Either plant them at once in very sandy soil or mix with sand and store over winter, planting in good garden soil as soon as the land can be worked easily in spring.

Gladioli are easily kept over winter in the vegetable cellar. After the first frost cut them off a few inches from the ground, dig, and place in a convenient place where they will not get wet. When dry, store in the vegetable cellar.

The hard maple, sumac, hazel, and other shrubs and herbs are taking on their fall colors now. These, with the fruits of our wild grapes, bitter-sweet, highbush cranberry and snow-berry make a trip in the field a pleasure.

Have you laid in a supply of walnuts, butternuts and hazel nuts for winter use? There may be a few on the trees yet, although the squirrels have been busy.

Trees and shrubs may be set in autumn, but as a rule it is better to wait until spring. Large trees may be moved with a ball of frozen earth to advantage late this autumn.—Le Roy Cady, associate horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

SKIN DISEASE

Any skin disease such as acne, eczema, psoriasis, etc., is very unpleasant, but if the organs of elimination are working properly there will be no skin disease. If there is subluxation (displacement) of the vertebrae (small bones of the spine), causing nerve pressure and preventing the vital force from flowing freely to the kidneys, the latter will not function properly and the excretion will be thrown off by the pores of the skin, causing eczema and similar disorders. ADVERTISING BRAINERD

At a recent meeting of the advisory board of the Chamber of Commerce, John A. Hoffbauer, who is chairman of the publicity committee, contended that there is no reason why the tourist season should not be extended for two more months. He submitted the thought that by careful, well-placed advertising hunters can be drawn up through this part of Minnesota, leaving in their train valuable business within this city. The suggestion was favorably received by the members of the advisory board and one person present passed over a five dollar bill to help in the work outlined by the chairman of the publicity committee.

There was much more behind Mr. Hoffbauer's contention than appeared on the surface. This is proved by the fact that The Minneapolis Journal, on the front page of the second section of Monday's paper, gave nine inches of space to an account of this campaign which it announced as having been formally inaugurated by the Brainerd Daily Dispatch.

The value of this space is far beyond what the proponent of the idea expected to purchase from the city papers. It is on a page which carries no advertising and where the eye of the prospective hunter immediately looks for information about the territory through which he may pass in seeking good hunting grounds. It is worth far more than could be secured by the money which it is expected will be spent in this campaign.

If the business interests of the city will get behind this effort to inform people who think of coming north for the hunting season of the advantages of this district, and to entice others who had not expected to enjoy a trip north during this fall season to change their minds and take such a trip, business in Brainerd will reap vastly more than the small outlay for the advertisements to be run in the papers of the larger cities to the south of us.

Tourists have been attracted to this section of the state by the advertising prepared and circulated by the various organizations intent upon building up the tourist business in this region, and by advertising the advantages of a trip through this part of the state at this time of the year others will be drawn to our city, the tourist season will be extended two months longer, the district and the city will be talked about by the visitors when they return to their home towns, a larger flow of tourists will come this way next season, and business houses in Brainerd will reap considerable gain from the investment of a few dollars in a carefully and inexpensively organized campaign.

DISPOSING OF WAR SUPPLIES

SENATOR CHARLES E. TOWNSEND, of Michigan, has offered a bill to the senate for its consideration, which should have the support of the citizens of all the states, whose pressure may secure its passage during this session of congress. It calls for the distribution of the surplus materials left over from the world war and which have a value of approximately $1,000,000,000 to the various states of the union in the same ratio as these states sent men into service during the war. At present these supplies are stored in warehouses and the cost of protecting them is a burden on the government which is unnecessary.

Sales of supplies since the war ended have proved that the treasury gets little from such disposal of supplies and that these, bought at a low price, pass through the hands of a number of purchasers to be sold to the public at unconscionable prices. By this method of disposal the government does not obtain a fair price for the goods and the public pays an inflated price for what it buys. The profits from such transactions go to those firms that buy them cheaply from the government to sell them dearly to the people.

If having been proved conclusively that this method of disposal is far from satisfactory, some other method of distribution must be found, and Senator Townsend's bill offers such an equitable means of putting them to use that it ought to be passed forthwith.

These goods were paid for by the public and the public should be given the privilege of purchasing them at a reasonable price, which will reimburse the government to the amount of the purchase price, that they may be used in state institutions of the various states and bought at a price not exceeding that which the government was required to pay for them.

Every day this vast stock of supplies is allowed to lie in storage it depreciates, and as the cost of protection is no small amount common sense suggests that they be distributed as soon as possible. And there is no better plan for their distribution than that contained in Senator Townsend's bill which asks that they be divided among the states on a fixed ratio to be used in the institutions of the states of the union which are supported by the people of the states.

PUTTING IN POTATOES

COAL is scarce and potatoes are plentiful. The coal operators controlled the market and are now demanding extortionate prices for coal because of the shortage which they so ably engineered. On the other hand the farmer, who did not slow down production, has thrown on the market an enormous yield of potatoes with the result that the price has been forced down until he stands to take a loss.

The public is unanimous in its decision that the farmer should not be required to suffer because he does not promote labor troubles which produce a shortage for the purpose of demanding unreasonable prices for his produce. But this decision will not help the farmer in the present emergency unless the public does something right now to guarantee that he shall be given a fair price for his crop.

By using as little coal as possible the public may express its resentment of the treatment meted out to it by the coal operators, and by using as many potatoes as possible, putting in a full supply at once for the purpose of raising the price, the public may show its appreciation of the farmer's successful effort to raise sufficient food to supply the needs of the nation.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION
ISSUES NEW ORDER

PERMITS USE OF OPEN TOP CARS FOR COAL TRANSPORTATION, CHANGES PRIORITY

GIVES FORD MOTOR COMPANY A CHANCE TO REOPEN PLANT EARLY NEXT WEEK

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—A ray of hope was seen by thousands of idle Ford employees today in the new order of the Interstate Commerce Commission which now permits coal to be moved to all classes of consumers.

E. G. Liebold, Henry Ford's secretary, told the United Press that the Ford Motor company is now in a position to reply to an offer from the Main Island Creek company of West Virginia to supply the Ford company's needs at a price acceptable to them.

The new order, No. 25, which emanates from Washington, now permits use of open top cars for transportation of coal, and eliminates special privileges to public utilities and other classes specified in the previous order, No. 23.

A statement gleaned from a reliable source at the Ford plant today, was to the effect that hundreds of Ford mechanics were to be notified shortly to prepare for resumption of work early next week, and the entire working force was to be assimilated as rapidly as conditions would permit.

Ford Richest Man in World

New York, Sept. 20.—Henry Ford is the richest man in the world, according to an article published today by the Wall Street Journal.

Henry Ford has in the Ford Motor company the largest income and if capitalized, the largest fortune in the world, said the newspaper.

Profits before taxes for 1922 will exceed $125,000,000, and after taxes there will be $110,000,000, or about $100 a car. With these earnings, the Ford Motor company could be capitalized at $2,000,000,000 and pay five per cent on that capital.

Ford condemns bankers, but with $180,000,000 in cash, he is the largest individual banker in this country, if not in the whole world.

His income added to this figure at $500,000 a day, through the busy season, is probably unequalled in all history.

Question of Fees

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—The question of fees at the U of Minnesota is scheduled for further discussion at the next meeting of the board of regents, it was reported today.

Dr. W. J. Mayor, a member of the board, assailed the practice of raising fees in overcrowded departments at the last meeting of the board.

"It is un-American to increase the fees in departments that are overcrowded on the basis of supply and demand," he declared.

The board recently raised the fees in the dental college for the first two quarters from $35 to $50.

Fees at the university have been increased out of proportion according to the belief of some members of the board. It was pointed out that salaries and expenses have also increased but some members contend tuition fees should be held down wherever possible.

DAIRY COW MAKES FOR PROSPERITY

The Dispatch has been strongly advocating the dairy cow as a means of general prosperity. Dairy farming is especially adaptable to Crow Wing county, as many of our most stable farmers can testify. Merchants and bankers in every community will do well to help their farmer customers get started in the dairy business. It will be like bread cast upon the waters returning to them a hundred fold.

The following statistics are worth studying and will bring you to a better realization of what dairying will do for you and for this county, if given the proper impetus.

Most of Minnesota's farmers own and operate their own farms. More than one hundred and twenty-five thousand are dairy farmers whose cows create more than $1,500,000 in new wealth for their owners every week.

These farmers are buying automobiles, putting up new buildings, silos, and fences, and are installing electric plants, running water, sanitary plumbing and farm and home labor-saving devices as rapidly as possible in order to make their farms more profitable and their families more happy and contented.

Minnesota is a large part of the fast-growing agricultural section of the United States which made three-fourths of the total increase in number of farms from 1910 to 1920. Agricultural wealth in Minnesota has doubled twice in the last twenty years.

Thousands of new arms have come out of the woods of the northern section of the state in the past decade. More are coming each year and they are all admirably suited for dairy farming.

Minnesota offers the advantages of a tremendously large market, combined with the opportunities of a vast new and untouched field. Fortunately is the man whose business is being established in the great "Land of Bread and Butter".

New York, Sept. 20.—Henry Ford is the richest man in the world, according to an article published today by the Wall Street Journal.

Henry Ford has in the Ford Motor company the largest income and if capitalized, the largest fortune in the world, said the newspaper.

Profits before taxes for 1922 will exceed $125,000,000, and after taxes there will be $110,000,000, or about $100 a car. With these earnings, the Ford Motor company could be capitalized at $2,000,000,000 and pay five per cent on that capital.

Ford condemns bankers, but with $180,000,000 in cash, he is the largest individual banker in this country, if not in the whole world.

Merchants and bankers in every community will do well to help their farmer customers get started in the dairy business. It will be like bread cast upon the waters returning to them a hundred fold.

The following statistics are worth studying and will bring you to a better realization of what dairying will do for you and for this county, if given the proper impetus.

Most of Minnesota's farmers own and operate their own farms. More than one hundred and twenty-five thousand are dairy farmers whose cows create more than $1,500,000 in new wealth for their owners every week.

These farmers are buying automobiles, putting up new buildings, silos, and fences, and are installing electric plants, running water, sanitary plumbing and farm and home labor-saving devices as rapidly as possible in order to make their farms more profitable and their families more happy and contented.

Minnesota is a large part of the fast-growing agricultural section of the United States which made three-fourths of the total increase in number of farms from 1910 to 1920. Agricultural wealth in Minnesota has doubled twice in the last twenty years.

Thousands of new arms have come out of the woods of the northern section of the state in the past decade. More are coming each year and they are all admirably suited for dairy farming.

Minnesota offers the advantages of a tremendously large market, combined with the opportunities of a vast new and untouched field. Fortunately is the man whose business is being established in the great "Land of Bread and Butter".

NEW FIRE HOSE IS NEEDED
City Engineer Reported That One-Third of the New General Sewer Has Been Completed

At the regular meeting of the city council Monday evening it was decided that the judges appointed to serve on the primary election board be re-appointed for service at the coming general election in November. The respective aldermen are to decide on the polling places for the 2nd, 3rd and 5th wards.

The application for billiard table license of O. H. Gram, who operates a billiard establishment on Kindred street, was referred to the mayor and police committee to report at the next meeting.

Wants to Lease Land
The mayor read a communication from John Sineocks in which he states his desire to buy or lease one acre of the property in East Brainerd known as the "Holland Tract". The matter was referred to the city property committee.

On motion carried, the city council agreed to furnish pipe and John Jackson is to lay same on Lake street, thus covering a very objectionable open sewer which has run past his residence for several years. It was Mr. Jackson's offer to lay the pipe provided the city would furnish the material.

The street committee reported on the condition of the old city scales site and the council ordered same repaired at once. The matter of dead trees on 4th avenue Northeast at the old Forsyth property was discussed and referred to the city engineer.

New Fire Hose
The question of fire apparatus and the purchasing of new fire hose was taken up and the fire committee was instructed to meet with the firemen at their next general meeting and further discuss plans for the betterment of the department.

The city engineer reported that one-third of new general sewer has been completed and covered, and 80 per cent of the first progress estimate was allowed. On motion, the finance committee was ordered to report at the next meeting on some method for financing the new general sewer project.

Progress Estimate on Paving
Upon motion, the progress estimate No. 2, on the paving project was allowed, subject to the approval of the city engineer, which approval will not be granted until the new paving has been cleaned of rock and sand placed in the center of the streets paved by the construction company.

Paving South Broadway
Alderman Michael brought up the matter of paving South Broadway from Laurel street south to the spur track, a distance of about 125 feet. The property on both sides of this section of Broadway belong to Con O'Brien, and it was decided that if the city could finance its share of this project, the paving should be ordered in. The matter was referred to the finance committee to report at the next meeting.

Little presented to the council a proposed amendment to the city charter to amend Section 5 of Chapter 2, by adding Section 5a referring to changing the membership of the Water & Light Board from three to five members, one from each ward of the city, those members to be appointed by the voters instead of elected.

JAMES J. CUMMINS HAS PASSED AWAY

Well Known Lumberman Died of Heart Trouble Early Wednesday Morning

MEMBER OF MANY LODGES
Funeral Arrangements Pending, Until Son, Thomas, of Seattle, is Heard From

James J. Cummins, a resident of Brainerd for nearly thirty years, died at his home, 213 3rd avenue, N. E., at one o'clock Wednesday morning, following a lingering illness of several years.

Mr. Cummins was born in Lyons, Iowa, January 16th, 1859. Here he grew to manhood and in 1882 married Miss Margaret McGuire, to which union three sons were born.

The family moved to Brainerd in 1895, after a short residence in Chicago, and Mr. Cummins became connected with the Brainerd Lumber Company. He worked for this company until 1906, when he became traveling inspector for the Northern Pine Manufacturers Association with which firm he was connected until the time of his death, although he had been unable to attend to his duties since December, 1921, on account of ill health.

At the time of his death, Mr. Cummins was a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Modern Woodmen of America, the Illinois Commercial Men's Association, and the B. P. O. Elks. He was initiated into the Elks May 20, 1920.

Mr. Cummins realized that the end was near, and was fully prepared for it. He entered into a state of coma about four o'clock Tuesday afternoon, from which he never gained consciousness.

Surviving him are his three sons, John J., of the N. P. Division Storekeepers office; Joseph A., employed at the Northwest Paper Co.; and Thomas W., of Seattle, Washington. Mrs. Cummins preceded her husband in death on May 31st, 1917. Since that time, the home has been looked after by her sister, Miss Mary McGuire.

Funeral arrangements have not been made, pending word from Thomas Cummins, the son living in Seattle. Thomas was in Brainerd for two weeks the latter part of August, and may be unable to return. The services will be held from St. Francis church, and interment made in Evergreen cemetery beside the body of his wife.

There is one grandchild, James G., named after his grandfather, making a total of four in this family by that name.

FARM HOME BURNED

House of D. D. Schrader in Lake Edwards Township, Occupied by Tenant, Destroyed

The farm home of D. D. Schrader of Brainerd, located near Hubert in Lake Edwards township, and occupied by a tenant G. N. Harris, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin on Tuesday evening between 7:30 and 8 o'clock. It measured 24 by 44 feet in size, was of frame construction and had seven rooms.

Insurance on the house amounting to $1500 was carried by the owner. The tenant lost all his furniture on which, it is reported, $600 insurance was carried.

The story of Harris is that he, with wife and children and a neighbor, went to a show in Brainerd and that upon their return they found the house leveled. Another neighbor observed a bright light in the vicinity and first supposed it to be a brush fire. On investigation W. Guida found the house on fire, no one at home, and he gave the alarm, the neighbors saving the silo, barn and chicken house.

FORMER BRAINERD MAN HAS BUS LINE

Paul Perkins of Pine City, Former Brainerd Man, is President of Gopher Transportation Co.

MOOSE LAKE PAPER COMMENTS
Twenty Passenger Sedans are Operated, Company May Soon Have to Double Its Service

In commenting on a new bus line established, the Moose Lake Star Gazette of August 21 refers to Paul Perkins, who formerly lived in Brainerd and was in business here. The article states:

The new bus line recently established through Moose Lake—Minneapolis to Duluth and return each day—is proving very popular. Paul Perkins of Pine City, president of the Gopher Transportation Co., is responsible.

Each day the big twenty-passenger sedans are fully loaded, and many would be passengers are refused. If this kind of business continues the company will soon be forced to double its service.

The busses on this line are great, big palatial affairs the finest ever seen in this part of the country. Each one carries twenty passengers and driver and there is room for all the luggage. And the fare for bus rides is no more than by railroad.

SUFFERED PRIVATIONS

Auto Took Fire in Desert, and Occupants Walked Hundreds of Miles to Get to Brainerd

The mayor's duties do not always lead him down a sunshiny path. A great many of his tasks are pleasant no doubt, but sometimes he gets the other side of life also. Such was the case Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. May Ahlers called at the mayor's office asking for assistance in finding work for herself, her son and daughter-in-law. Her story is rather an interesting one, and brings out the kind of mettle of which people are made.

Mrs. Ahlers aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Hubbard, live in Brainerd. Mr. Hubbard was formerly janitor in the old court house, and now lives in the old sheriff's residence. They are in dire need, and Mrs. Ahlers, whose home is in San Jose, Cal., with her son Carmer Walhord and his wife, started overland by automobile for Brainerd expecting to sell their car when they arrived here and find employment so that they could remain through the winter and support the Hubbards.

Bad luck began when the party were crossing the Red Desert. Their automobile took fire and was entirely destroyed, stranding them on the desert in the middle of the summer's hottest weather. They walked over four hundred miles, digging holes in the sand to shelter them from the sun and walking nights.

They were six weeks in getting to Minneapolis, working along the way whenever they could get anything to do to get enough to proceed further. In this manner they arrived in Brainerd the latter part of last week, practically stranded, and with the duty of keeping the aged parents of Mrs. Ahlers through the winter.

In appealing to the mayor, Mrs. Ahlers states that both she and her son are anxious and willing to work. She has had experience as a trained nurse and a chef. The son is an auto-mechanic and a bookkeeper. However, they will be glad to get work of any kind, and will appreciate anything the citizens of Brainerd may be able to do for them in the line of employment.

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Assault Case Before Judge Warner—Transient Forfeits $100 Bail for Non-appearance in Court

In municipal court, Erick Meyers, charged with assault by John A. Thelin of Platte Lake township, furnished bonds for $100 to appear for trial at 10 a. m. Thursday. M. L. Dean and M. D. Gorton went on the bond as security.

The case of Carl Meyers, who is implicated with his brother in the above offense, is in the hands of the juvenile court and will be tried by that tribunal on Monday. No bond was required in this case.

J. F. Wahl, accused of driving an automobile while intoxicated, failed to appear in court, and forfeited his bail, amounting to $100. Wahl was from St. Paul, and was bringing liquor into Brainerd, supposedly for sale, but enroute he drank up his merchandise, and landed in the hands of the police.

The Prices That We Didn't Permit to Raise

A tremendous service that was done for the people of the United States by the merchants of America—in which we did our full part—was to prevent hundreds of prices from advancing as it had been intended they should, by the manufacturers.

You have read in your own newspapers how the prices of raw wool had advanced; how the cotton crop was short and raw cotton had advanced; how the price of raw silk had advanced, and many other items. We were also told several months ago that these advances meant immediate advances on all manufactured products in which these raw materials were used.

But WE REFUSED TO PAY ADVANCED PRICES!

So did hundreds of other merchants, and the result was that very few prices have been advanced. In fact, many prices are lower than they have been for a half dozen years.

This is as it should be—this is one of the big reasons why everything looks so inviting in our store these early autumn days. And it is a time for wise people to buy, for the threatened price advances are most likely to come in the near future.

Come and see the new goods tomorrow.

The New Coats Are Just Adorable

Any evening now—any sunless day—the protective wrap will be needed and what a delight it will be to have the smart new coat all ready to put on.

New Gloves

How you will delight in seeing the beautiful cape and fabric gloves we are displaying. They are "novelties" which so brighten up a woman's street dress and make it most attractive. You will delight in seeing these novelties.

The new fabrics are so original—the colorings are often so striking; but the chief charm is of course in the artistic lines of the autumn models—so very different from any coats you have seen before.

But WE REFUSED TO PAY ADVANCED PRICES!

So did hundreds of other merchants, and the result was that very few prices have been advanced. In fact, many prices are lower than they have been for a half dozen years.

This is as it should be—this is one of the big reasons why everything looks so inviting in our store these early autumn days. And it is a time for wise people to buy, for the threatened price advances are most likely to come in the near future.

Come and see the new goods tomorrow.

The New Coats Are Just Adorable

Any evening now—any sunless day—the protective wrap will be needed and what a delight it will be to have the smart new coat all ready to put on.

New Gloves

How you will delight in seeing the beautiful cape and fabric gloves we are displaying. They are "novelties" which so brighten up a woman's street dress and make it most attractive. You will delight in seeing these novelties.

The new fabrics are so original—the colorings are often so striking; but the chief charm is of course in the artistic lines of the autumn models—so very different from any coats you have seen before.

FANNING WITH ARRELL

BASEBALL PROSPECTS IN 1923

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 20.—Regardless of what success the New York Giants have in the 1922 pennant race, the team will have to be strengthened to do as good or better next season.

Looking at the 1923 season this far in advance, it will take a real team to beat the Cubs, the Reds and the Pirates next year and McGraw hasn't a whale of a team, unless he gets some pitchers this winter.

Perhaps Joe Scott will get his arm back this winter. McQuillin may go better and Barnes may get back to winning form, but it is a gamble.

Fans are wondering where McGraw will place Jimmy O'Connell, his $75,000 beauty from the Pacific Coast. It is apparently the Giant leader's purpose to play him in the outfield, because he had the San Francisco club switch him from first base and give him a year in the outfield.

McGraw often has said that it takes at least one year on the bench to make a real Giant player, but it is inconceivable that he would allow a $75,000 article to hide within the shadows of the dugout.

To get a place in the outfield, O'Connell will have to displace Irish Meusel, Pep Young, Casey Stengel or Bill Cunningham. Stengel, of course, was a freak this season and he could be displaced but many critics from the Pacific Coast consider Cunningham a more valuable player than O'Connell.

After what the team did this year, the experts hardly will consider the St. Louis Cards seriously in the future unless some changes are made in the club.

The Cards had the grandest chance in the world to win the National League pennant this year. The Giants were hanging around almost inviting a defeat when the Cards turned over.

Many of the sages blame the collapse of the team on Branch Rickey, the theory expert and blackboard manager of the club.

They claim around the circuit that Rickey disrupted his pitching staff, that he burdened his club with so many signals and trick plays that they were at sea most of the time.

It is a cinch that something blasted a good pitching staff. All during the hottest part of the mid-season battle, Rickey used three and four pitchers in every game. He also made a funny move when he benched Jack Fournier, a good first baseman, and put in his place Bottomly, a rookie, whose misplays lost a number of critical games. It also was a funny move to use rookies in the outfield in important series.

Under Bill McKechine, the Pittsburgh Pirates have been given new life. The Pirates have looked like pennant winners for several years, but something was always wrong with the team and it looks on the surface like the trouble rested with the management. If the Pirates do not win the 1922 pennant, they will be the ranking favorite to cop in 1923.

In the American League, the Yanks, Browns and Tigers no doubt will fight it out all the way with the White Sox as the dark horse. The Yanks should be better in 1923, the Browns ought to be improved with the chance that their young pitchers will be better and if Ty Cobb gets his hands on one more good winning pitcher, Detroit will take a lot of beating before they lose.

"Dangerous Curve Ahead" Tonight

The story of the play concerns the early married life of a small-town girl who was the belle of her community before her marriage to an easy going domesticated inclined husband. Inwardly chafing under the restraints imposed by the cares of her home, and the rearing of her two children, she seizes the first opportunity to taste again of the butterfly life in society, while her husband is away on business.

How she avoids the Dangerous Curve, and is brought to her senses by the illness of her little child, eagerly resuming the yoke of domesticity, is dramatically portrayed.

The picture is well acted and splendidly photographed, several innovations being resorted to that alone lift the film from the commonplace. Miss Chadwick does the best work of her career in the picture and she is ably supported by Richard Dix, somely furnished with the strange "Lefty" Flynn, of Yale athletic fame, atmosphere of having been lived in.

James Neill, Edythe Chapman and Kate Lester.

"The Old Nest" is Coming

Screen fans who have formed the habit of rating the performances of stars according to actual merit are advised to watch Mary Alden in "The Old Nest." This wonderful picture is coming to the Lyceum theatre soon, and we are told that Miss Alden's marvelous performance is the finest of its kind the screen world has ever produced.

DOUBLE MURDER MYSTERY CLUE FOUND

(By United Press)
New Brunswick, New Jersey, Sept. 20.—Six letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Elinor Mills to the Rev. Edward W. Hall, were found by police in the rector's study today, and furnished clues which may lead to speedy clearing up of the double mystery.

Names of persons who may have had a hand in the killing of the clergyman and the wife of his son, were discovered in the letters, it was hinted.

A detective was on guard at the abandoned farm house near the place where the two bodies were found under a crab apple tree. Authorities believe the murder may have been committed in the old mansion, which has many of the aspects of a haunted house, dilapidated and falling in pieces outside, shrouded by trees and shrubbery, but inside handsomely furnished with the strange "Lefty" Flynn, of Yale athletic fame, atmosphere of having been lived in.

Yanks Win Again

Detroit, Sept. 20.—The New York Yankees continued their march toward the American league championship yesterday by coming from behind in the latter part of their game with Detroit and winning, 4 to 3. Faced by a one-run handicap, yielded to Detroit in the second inning, while Sam Jones allowed two of the four hits obtained off his delivery during the game, the Yanks tied the count in the seventh due to clever base running on the part of Schanz and Jones, and put the game in the winning column in the next frame on extra base blows by Pipp and Meusel.

Babe Ruth made his thirty-fourth home run of the season off Pilette in the first inning, scoring Dugan ahead of him. During the last five innings, no Detroit batsman reached first base. One of the hits off Jones was credited to Pilette, who hit to Pipp and was safe when no one covered first.

Score—
New York 200 000 110—4 8 0
Detroit 120 000 000—3 4 0
Batteries—Jones and Schanz; Pilette and Woodall.

FORMER KAISER TO BE MARRIED NOV. 5

(By United Press)
Sabor, Silesia, Sept. 20.—The wedding of William Hohenzollern, former kaiser, to Princess Hermine Von Schonach Caralath, who is now here, is to take place November 5, it was authoritatively stated today. The princess plans to leave November 3 for Doorn where the wedding will take place.

No Descendants of These Great.
There are no living descendants of Shakespeare, Cowper, Dryden, Swift, Chaucer, Pope, Shelley or Byron.

KEEPS HIS SPEED

George Burns, former Giant, who leads off for Cincinnati is still a speed boy after his many years of service. He is second in the league in stolen bases. In a recent three game series against Brooklyn he stole five bases and made nine hits in 13 times at bat.

FIVE PRIZE WINNING GREEN OLIVE RECIPES

Here are five of the prize-winning recipes in a recent contest among New England housewives. They are well worth trying.

Green Olive Lilies
Spread butterthins evenly with cream cheese. Place one-half of stuffed olive on center of each. These look pretty and are delicious served with tea or coffee.

Boston Girls' Sandwich
One slice each of white and brown bread, cut thin and buttered, cover with lettuce leaf, spread well with mashed cold baked beans, thickly strewn with finely chopped Spanish green olives.

Olive Tart Salad
Four tart apples, three-fourths cup Spanish green olives, one stalk celery, one-half cup walnut meats. Cut olives, apples and celery into small pieces, moisten with mayonnaise and cover with chopped nuts. Serve in a nest of lettuce.

Norwegian Sandwich
To one can sardines add one tablespoon chopped green olives, juice of one-half lemon, dash paprika and grain of salt. Make a paste of all. Spread between graham bread sliced thin.

Celery, Olives and Cheese
Chop one small-sized bottle of stuffed olives. Mix with pimento cheese. Salt and pepper to taste. Place the mixture in the grooves of the celery.

ABATEMENT AIMED AT 20 LIQUOR PLACES

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—Abatement proceedings have been started by Arthur Markve, assistant county attorney, against 20 establishments where liquor was being manufactured during the month of August, according to the monthly report of John Belair, head of the purity squad.

Theories and Facts.
Theories are liable to smash. Facts are made to smash 'em with.

Ty Cobb stole four bases, the first time he ever turned the trick in a single game, on July 13, 1907, against Washington, with Block and Warner catching.

Ty Cobb's batting against the leading right hand pitchers of the American league for the last several years has been figured at .359, and against the best southpaws at .331.

The most unusual individual performance of the year so far was Jimmie Johnston's five runs and five hits in one game. That's scarier than no-hit games and triple plays.

While admitting that he has given up hope of equaling George Ruth's world record of 59 home runs, Kenneth Williams of the Browns is confident he will lead the New York slugger this season at least.

Cy Young is credited with pitching three double-header shutouts in his career. In 1897 when in the National league he hurled his first one, and then after moving over to the American league, he flipped his second in 1904, and the third in 1908.

ANOTHER BRAINERD CASE

It Proves That There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Brainerd Folks

Just another report of a case in Brainerd. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Brainerd with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Hans Anderson, 502 Norwood St., says: "I caught a cold while at work and my back started aching. I noticed it first when I stooped to shovel some coal. I got such a sharp catch in my back I thought I had been hit. From then on I had a steady ache and pains in my back and I felt sore and stiff in the morning. My kidneys acted unnaturally and between all these symptoms I was feeling pretty badly. I tried easily and was usually all in before the day was over. I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Dunn's Drug Store and after using them a short time I was rid of these pains and the kidney disorder."

There are no living descendants of Shakespeare, Cowper, Dryden, Swift, Chaucer, Pope, Shelley or Byron.

KEEPS HIS SPEED

George Burns, former Giant, who leads off for Cincinnati is still a speed boy after his many years of service. He is second in the league in stolen bases. In a recent three game series against Brooklyn he stole five bases and made nine hits in 13 times at bat.

FIVE PRIZE WINNING GREEN OLIVE RECIPES

Here are five of the prize-winning recipes in a recent contest among New England housewives. They are well worth trying.

Green Olive Lilies.
Spread butterthins evenly with cream cheese. Place one-half of stuffed olive on center of each. These look pretty and are delicious served with tea or coffee.

Boston Girls' Sandwich.
One slice each of white and brown bread, cut thin and buttered, cover with lettuce leaf, spread well with mashed cold baked beans, thickly strewn with finely chopped Spanish green olives.

Olive Tart Salad.
Four tart apples, three-fourths cup Spanish green olives, one stalk celery, one-half cup walnut meats. Cut olives, apples and celery into small pieces, moisten with mayonnaise and cover with chopped nuts. Serve in a nest of lettuce.

Norwegian Sandwich.
To one can sardines add one tablespoon chopped green olives, juice of one-half lemon, dash paprika and grain of salt. Make a paste of all. Spread between graham bread sliced thin.

Celery, Olives and Cheese.
Chop one small-sized bottle of stuffed olives. Mix with pimento cheese. Salt and pepper to taste. Place the mixture in the grooves of the celery.

ABATEMENT AIMED AT 20 LIQUOR PLACES

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—Abatement proceedings have been started by Arthur Markve, assistant county attorney, against 20 establishments where liquor was being manufactured during the month of August, according to the monthly report of John Belair, head of the purity squad.

Theories and Facts.
Theories are liable to smash. Facts are made to smash 'em with.

Ty Cobb stole four bases, the first time he ever turned the trick in a single game, on July 13, 1907, against Washington, with Block and Warner catching.

Ty Cobb's batting against the leading right hand pitchers of the American league for the last several years has been figured at .359, and against the best southpaws at .331.

The most unusual individual performance of the year so far was Jimmy Johnston's five runs and five hits in one game. That's scarier than no hit games and triple plays.

While admitting that he has given up hope of equalling George Ruth's world record of 59 home runs, Kenneth Williams of the Browns is confident he will lead the New York slugger this season at least.

Cy Young is credited with pitching three double-header shutouts in his career. In 1897 when in the National league he hurled his first one, and then after moving over to the American league, he flipped his second in 1904, and the third in 1908.

ANOTHER BRAINERD CASE

It Proves That There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Brainerd Folks

Just another report of a case in Brainerd. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Brainerd with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Hans Anderson, 502 Norwood St., says: "I caught a cold while at work and my back started aching. I noticed it first when I stooped to shovel some coal. I got such a sharp catch in my back I thought I had been hit. From then on I had a steady ache and pains in my back and I felt sore and stiff in the morning. My kidneys acted unnaturally and between all these symptoms I was feeling pretty badly. I tired easily and was usually all in before the day was over. I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Dunn's Drug Store and after using them a short time I was rid of these pains and the kidney disorder."
